MISSION STATEMENT

The Office of Special Scholarships (OSS) strives to recruit the nation’s best student scholars to the Georgia Institute of Technology in order to further enrich the composition of the student body, improve the campus, and impact their environment within a global context as students and as alumni.

VISION

The Office of Special Scholarships will support the development of some of the nation’s leading scholarship programs including the Stamps President’s Scholars Program. Externally, institutions of higher learning and the general populace will regard Georgia Tech as a “best practices” leader in the realm of scholarship program enhancement and deployment especially among technically strong universities. Internally, the OSS and its student scholars will leverage human and programmatic resources toward benefiting the campus-at-large and increasing the national reputation of the Institute. In short, the campus and society will continue to improve over time because the OSS exists.
